NOTE:

21. Ellen BEARDSWORTH Gardner died in Atchison, Kansas on the way. She is James Gardner's mother and was born 2 April 1790. Died 18 May 1855 at the age of 65 on her way to Utah.

BIG NOTE:

Henry Clegg and family were on the same company. His first wife died in May, also, in Mormon Grove, Atchison, Kansas. They probably died of the same plague that took so many lives during that same time. Henry's son Henry James died a few days after his mother, Hannah Eastham Clegg, on 28 May 1855. Father Henry carried the body back several miles and buried him in the same grave by the side of his mother. It is likely that Ellen Beardsworth Gardner was buried nearby in the cemetery where most of those who died suffering from the plague.

ANOTHER BIG NOTE:

22. & 23. John Proctor and wife Martha Parker Proctor, Janis father's father's parents were both born in Burnley, Lancashire, England and were married on 7 January 1854 in Burnley. Yet they had a daughter Sarah Ann Gardner who was born in American Fork in 1855. So, from that we know that they had to have come across the plains prior to the railroad. Therefore, they would be classified as pioneers. However, their names do not appear on the overland trails listings from 1847 through 1868, so far as I can find.

ANOTHER BIG NOTE (Added 20 October 2010):

Warburton Family

In January 1856, two months before the ship Enoch Train set sail, John and Betty Warburton, with their six-year-old son Edward (Teddy), had left Yorkshire and sailed on a cargo ship through the canals of Lancashire and into the Irish Sea. Their plans were to sail to Liverpool where they would join with a group of Saints that would then sail to America. Betty was expecting a baby and on the 2nd day of their journey, as they were going through The Channel, she became ill. Unable to obtain medical help, she died from complications of her pregnancy. Because the ship was then far out at sea, she was wrapped in canvas and lowered into the waters. John and Teddy were devastated as they watched their beloved wife and mother buried in the Irish Sea. Before her death, Betty made John promise that he would continue on to Zion. (Proctor)

Two days later, when John and his son reached Liverpool, they learned the ship they were supposed to have sailed on had left the day before. John was in despair until, he ran into some old missionary friends and they arranged for him and his son to sail on the ship Independence with church leaders and missionaries that were returning home. (Proctor)

Note: This is the reason John and Edward Warburton are not found in the Mormon Immigration Index.

Total Count is 21 if the two who died in route are deducted from the listing.
